Committed to Protestant

Evangelical Christian needs worldwide
and Secular purposes nationally

The Foundation, its Directors, and Officers may make recommendations for one-time solicited or unsolicited grants to qualified organizations, subject to the approval of The Huston Foundation Board of Directors. Qualified organizations are those approved by the IRS as tax exempt and meet the Foundation's grantmaking requirements (guidelines).

Any solicited or unsolicited grant awarded by the Foundation, in any year, does not constitute a precedent for subsequent grants to the same or other qualified organizations.

The Directors reserve the right, at their sole discretion, to determine and/or modify the amount and duration of any grant.

Any grantee who wishes to apply the sum total or any portion of the specific grant funds to other purposes than that solicited in the original request, must obtain prior permission to do so in writing.

Background of The Huston Foundation

The Huston Foundation, a private family foundation, was incorporated as a Pennsylvania non-profit corporation on December 12, 1957 for federal tax purposes.

The Huston Foundation was established by Charles Lukens Huston, Jr. and his sister Ruth Huston, co-founders and principal donors as a tribute to their parents, Charles Lukens Huston, a Protestant Evangelical Christian philanthropic industrialist, and Anne Stewart Huston, a Protestant Evangelical Christian community leader.

Ruth Huston, 1900-1982, served for over half a century as a Protestant Evangelical Christian missionary in the Appalachian Mountains of eastern Kentucky, and concurrently served as a director of the Lukens Steel Company in Coatesville, Pa. In Kentucky, she founded a summer Bible camp for children, taught Bible studies, promoted Christian education, and allocated most of her income to the Lord's work, both nationally and internationally. Miss Huston was a trustee of Bryan College and Bob Jones University. She was conferred the Honorary Doctorate of Letters degree from Bryan College and Pikeville College. She authored several books including God's Timing and Acting like Christians. Miss Huston was called upon on numerous occasions to speak publicly about her missionary services and business acumen.

Charles Lukens Huston, Jr., 1906-1982, was an active supporter of educational, community, humanitarian, and faith-based organizations. He was founder of several family and children service organizations including Health and Welfare Council and The Family Services, both of Chester County. As President and CEO of the Lukens Steel Company he founded the Coatesville Opportunity Council on Low Income Housing. As a recipient of the prestigious Silver Beaver award from the Boy Scouts of America, it was evident that Mr. Huston was a champion of developing leadership qualities in children. His own leadership abilities benefited major university, bank and corporate boards. These included Eastern University; Drexel University, where he was conferred the Honorary Doctorate of Letters degree; Marine Midland Bank of New York; American Iron and Steel Institute; and the International Iron and Steel Institute.

Following the passing of its founders, the Foundation continued to grow both in financial assets and family interest. The only income providing for operating expenses and grants to charity is derived through sound investments in the securities market. Therefore, securities market fluctuations have a direct impact on the Foundation's expenditures and grants from year to year.

The widow of Charles L. Huston, Jr., Nancy G. Huston, served as the Foundation president from 1982 until her death in 2002 — leaving her three children and five of the grandchildren to carry out the purposes and interests of the founders.

The Overall Mission

The charitable interests of both founders are reflected in the Foundation's overall mission and more specifically in the Protestant Evangelical Christian and Secular mission statements. It is important to note that while the Foundation operates as one non-profit corporate entity; distributions are divided between Protestant Evangelical Christian and Secular organizations. According to the directive established by the founders, a majority of the grants must be given to Protestant Evangelical Christian organizations. This has been the consistent practice of the foundation since its inception in 1957.

The Foundation, a regional, national and international philanthropy is committed to serving Protestant Evangelical Christian needs worldwide and secular purposes nationally, through its grantmaking, as an investment in humanitarian needs.

By providing funds, technical assistance, collaboration, and networking on behalf of not-for-profit organizations, the Directors of the Foundation seek to encourage individual and Christ-centered development, which promotes personal evangelism and discipleship. In addition, the directors seek to encourage problem solving and innovative, practical approaches to meeting the changing needs of our regional, national, and international communities.

Protestant Evangelical Christian Mission

The Protestant Evangelical Christian grantmaking of the Huston Foundation is structured to honor the legacy of Ruth Huston and her parents Charles L. and Annie Huston. The primary interest of the Foundation is in funding ministries that have a strong Protestant, Christ-centered, Biblical-based foundation with an effective prayer ministry and unique calling by the Holy Spirit to promote evangelism and discipleship around the world. Ministries which subscribe to the building up of the Body of Christ with a deep commitment to and dependence upon the leading of the Holy Spirit to promote strong integrated programs and projects where the Biblical claims of Christ are presented side by side with any ministry involved.

Secular Mission

The Secular grantmaking of the Huston Foundation strives to conform to the principles and directions established by Charles Lukens Huston, Jr., for the benefit of improving the quality of life through not-for-profit organizations recognized by the Internal Revenue Services as qualified to receive foundation grants. The Foundation directors strive toward effective and efficient stewardship in receiving, researching, and evaluating requests for funding and determining the amount of distribution of funds in grants in areas of education, health, human services, arts, culture, science, civic, community services, and environment.

Accountant's Report

To the Board of Directors
The Huston Foundation
Wayne, Pennsylvania:

We have reviewed the statements of financial position — cash basis of the Huston Foundation as of December 31, 2023 and 2022, and the related statements of activities and changes in net assets — cash basis and statements of cash flows — cash basis for the years then ended, in accordance with Statements on Standards for Accounting and Review Services issued by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. All information included in these financial statements is the representation of the directors of the Huston Foundation.

A review consists principally of inquiries of Foundation personnel and analytical procedures applied to financial data. It is substantially less in scope than an audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, the objective of which is the expression of an opinion regarding the financial statements taken as a whole. Accordingly, we do not express such an opinion.

Based on our reviews, we are not aware of any material modifications that should be made to the accompanying financial statements in order for them to be in conformity with the cash basis of accounting.

The data in the financial statements is presented only for supplementary analysis purposes and has been subjected to the inquiry and analytical procedures applied in the review of the basic financial statements. This data is presented on the cash basis of accounting. We did not become aware of any material modifications that should be made to the data.

Statement of Investment Policy

The Huston Foundation's continuing grant-making capability is directly related to its investment policy.

The policy is centered upon an asset allocation that the directors believe will produce, over most five-year periods, a portfolio rate of return sufficient to cover the required minimum annual charitable distributions, administrative and investment management costs without eroding the real (inflation adjusted) value of the Foundation's investment portfolio.

The Foundation has an Investment Committee of five Board members appointed by the Foundation's Board of Directors to:

- ◆ oversee the investment activities
- ◆ allocate and reallocate assets among asset classes, investment styles and portfolio managers within the allocation ranges previously approved by the Board
- ◆ act for the Board on investment matters between board meetings
- ◆ make recommendations to the Board's finance committee which is a committee of the entire Board of Directors, meeting at least twice each calendar year

The Foundation has a contract with a qualified investment consultant to:

- ◆ recommend appropriate, highly qualified, investment institutions, securities custodian, and fund managers
- ◆ provide support to the investment committee
- ◆ supervise the investment activities
- ◆ to report thereon to the investment committee
- ◆ recommend changes in investment policy and investment managers
- ◆ provide a written annual report to the Board of Directors no later than the end of the first quarter of the Foundation's following year
- ◆ the investment consultant is appointed annually following a Board performance review

Preserving the Founding Donors Philanthropic Grantmaking, Operational Intent, and Practices

The Foundation's Board of Directors and executive staff are committed to adhering to the core principles, policies, and practices established and followed during the original founding donors' lifetime of grantmaking and philanthropic activities.

While it has been several decades since the passing of the founding donors, the Foundation's Board of Directors acknowledge, accept and carefully address the social and economic changes affecting the charitable organizations relying on donations, as well as, the Foundation's financial capacity to award grants.

The well designed organizational structure and funding criteria established by the founders has continued to help the Foundation survive the "winds of changing times."

Each year the requests for funding exceed the funds available for distribution. The long standing criteria for assisting the Board of Directors and executive staff in deciding where the funds may be most effective still remains intact and fundamentally sound.

Grant Requirements and Procedures

All grant awards are decided upon and approved by the Board of Directors at their meetings in May and November. No discretionary grants are awarded. The Board reviews recommendations and then votes on all awards. An organization may submit a request for funding toward a program or project which received a grant in the proceeding year. (Example: An organization may apply each year of a three-year campaign with all required information except the tax-determination letter in subsequent years after the initial request has been submitted.)

Grantmaking Restrictions

No organization may request funding for more than one project/program in any one grantmaking cycle (May/November).

The Directors do not make grant awards for:

- ◆ secular programs outside of North America
- ◆ scholarship support to individuals other than those receiving education grants under established foundation programs
- ◆ intermediate organizations which in turn distribute resources to beneficiaries of their own selection
- ◆ individual or group travel purposes (i.e. marching bands, precision drill teams, choirs, etc.)

- ◆ endowment funds (Director's prerogative)
- ◆ tickets for events or advertising for benefit purposes
- ◆ fraternal organizations
- ◆ political candidates or parties
- ◆ political Action Committees (PACs) engaged in influencing legislation

Evangelical Ministries

Purpose

Support organizations whose activities serve to spread the Gospel of Jesus Christ nationally and internationally and whose beliefs are contingent upon the books of the Old and New Testament of The King James Version of the Bible.

Evangelical Requirements

The Foundation provides grants only to those organizations and institutions qualified for tax-exempt status under 501(c)(3) of the Federal Internal Revenue Code. Therefore, an organization’s tax-exempt letter must accompany a completed Foundation grant request form and a doctrinal statement of faith on the first application to the Foundation. Any subsequent requests for funding will not require the tax-exempt letter or statement of faith if prior funding has been received from the Foundation.

Each proposal must show an active presentation of the Gospel of Jesus Christ — (the Bible) with opportunities to receive Christ as their personal savior.

The following doctrine statement must be affirmed by the requesting organization in order to qualify for financial consideration.

"We believe:

In the Holy Trinity, consisting of God the Father, Jesus Christ the son, and the Holy Spirit;

In the Virgin birth of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, who was begotten of the Holy Spirit and is true God and true man;

In the sinfulness of men and in Salvation through personal faith in Christ; in His bodily resurrection; in His present ministry of intercession; and in His personal return for His church;

In the Holy Spirit as a person who proceeds from the Father and the Son, by whom every believer is regenerated, in dwelt, empowered and sealed into the body of Christ which he believes;

In the Holy Scriptures as inspired by the Holy Spirit of God."

Demonstration Need

Requests for financial support must show evidence that the project, program, and organization is providing a unique community need.

Types of Support

While the directors prefer to provide funding for specific projects and programs, grants are awarded for general operation, and to capital projects including purchases of equipment on a selective, case-by-case meritorious basis. The Foundation does not support building campaigns.

In addition to the primary stated interests the Foundation will consider start-up or “seed” monies and “last resort” funding.

Leveraged Resources

The Foundation prefers not to be a sole source of funding for an agency or organization. We prefer to make grants to those applicants who have communications from other foundations and corporations.

Evaluation

Organizations are asked to present project goals in terms of quantifiable objectives against which the activities of their grant may be measured.

All requirements for funding must be in writing. This also applies to requests for subsequent funding.

Grantmaking Priorities

Grants may be awarded to the following organization categories:

Health and Human Services
